

GRAND FUNCTION IN WASHINGTON

President and Mrs. Taft Celebrate Silver Wedding,

FAIRYLAND AT THE WHITE HOUSE

First Couple in Nation Entertain Nobles of This and Other Lands and Are Congratulated by All the World.

Washington, June 20.—President and Mrs. Taft celebrated their silver wedding anniversary, and it will be many a day before the national capital forgets the function.

Every one, from the most exclusive social cave dweller to the newest member of congress, seems willing to admit that the reception was one of the most notable social affairs ever held in the White House.

With the weather perfect, the White House grounds transformed almost into fairyland, the 5,000 invited guests having the best kind of a time and four times that many interested and enthusiastic spectators standing twenty deep outside the iron fence that surrounds the executive mansion. President Taft, as he stood at the head of the receiving line with the first lady of the land did not seem to have a care in the world.

He was particularly happy as he said repeatedly in the course of the evening that Mrs. Taft, lately not in the best of health, seemed to have won strength for the occasion and was with him every moment of the time that the thousands of guests were filing by, exchanging hand grips and expressing the hope that they might be spared to be present away off in the future at the Tafts' golden wedding day.

Incidentally, it is not at all improbable that President Taft, considering the success of the reception, will issue a ukase increasing the salary of Professor Willis Moore, who makes the government weather. Every one who attended the reception agrees it would have been nothing short of calamity had the weather been less perfect.

To those entering the White House, either from the avenue side or the east carriage entrance, there was little beyond a searchlight playing on the fountain in front of the portico and a few clusters and lights on the lawn to indicate what awaited them on the spacious grounds in the rear.

Back there, though, the scene was beautiful beyond description. All around the outer edge of the acres of level, short-clipped grass within the White House and enclosure swung Chinese lanterns of fantastic designs, blocks upon blocks of them, barely six inches apart, swaying in the light breeze and casting their queer shapes and shadows on the lawn. Within the great square of lanterns every tree, big and little, every evergreen, every shrub and bush wore a dress of colored light. From the top of ancient elms and oaks long streamers of incandescent lights in the national colors, lopped here and there from branch to branch, swung downward to the ground. In the pines and cedars, clusters of smaller bulbs, wound about the trunks glowed within the green. From the roof of the White House a squad of white clad jacksies from the despatch boat Dolphin operated a big navy searchlight casting colored rays on the converging streams of the great fountain and basin in the center of the lawn. Just underneath the huge stream of white light cast from the Dolphin's big reflector, the red, white and blue of the national emblem shone out from thousands of colored incandescents arranged near the top of the back portico of the White House.

That is but a feeble picture of what the silver wedding guests saw when, after leaving their hats and wraps they emerged from the White House into the open. The reception began at 9 o'clock, but long before that hour a goodly part of the company had arrived. Many of the guests literally had to fight their way from Pennsylvania avenue down to the entrance on Executive avenue, the throne of spectators having formed a jam extending from the iron fence around the grounds, across the sidewalk and street and overflowing on the steps of the treasury building. On the west, between the White House and the state, war and navy buildings it was the same. Apparently everybody had read of the president's silver wedding anniversary and of the elaborate plans that were being made to entertain the 5,000 guests and had come down town to see the sights.

The customary fanfare of trumpets announced the appearance of the president and Mrs. Taft. There was a great outburst of cheers and hand clapping as they stepped out on the south portico and, descending the winding stone steps, made their way across the lawn to the canopy where guests were received and where above the presidential couple blazed in incandescents the wedding and silver wedding dates.

1896-1911. After them came the members of the president's cabinet with their wives and members of their families. For two hours the president stood in line, shaking hands. Mrs. Taft stood up beside the president during the first three-quarters of an hour and then at his earnest solicitation, sat down beside him.

Throughout the formal part of the reception the marine band played on a special stand erected to the right of the illuminated fountain, and the engineers' band on the portico. Between the two of them—and the music was practically continuous—Major Archibald Butt, the president's aide, who introduced the swiftly passing thousands to the president and Mrs. Taft had a hard time making his voice heard.

The gowns of the women were among the most beautiful and elaborate ever seen at the White House. Mrs. Taft wore a heavy brocade of satin, the ground of white and the brocade in silver flowers. The dress had a long graceful court train and was cut square at the neck. Mrs. Taft's ornaments were pearls and diamonds. Miss Taft was gowned in pink satin, veiled with pink chiffon.

President Taft had crowded a good deal of happiness into the day before the climax came in the big reception in the evening. The celebration began for him when he appeared at the breakfast table in the morning, surrounded by the big house party of kin-folks—the Tafts, the Torreyes and the Herrons. The president was hardly up from his morning meal before Secretary Hilles began to shower on him messages of congratulation that had been pouring into his office from the kings and other rulers of the world.

One of the first visitors to be presented was Monsignor Falconio, the papal delegate to this country. He called under instructions of Pope Pius X, and conveyed the best wishes of his Holiness to the president and Mrs. Taft. After Mr. Falconio came Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain, who had been requested by King George and Queen Mary to convey their best wishes.

Among the many messages from the foreign rulers were words of congratulation from Kaiser Wilhelm, President Fallieres of France, the king of Italy, the king and queen of Denmark, the king of Spain, (Zar of Russia, the emperor of Japan the sultan of Turkey, the king of Sweden, President Arosemena of Panama, Marquis Komura and Prince Katsura of Japan.

These messages, of course, pleased Aunt Della Torrey and others of the president's relatives immensely, but the president himself turned from them to write a two-page letter in his own hand to a Yale classmate who had sent his congratulations to the president with the heartfelt regret that he was unable to attend the silver wedding with the other members of the Yale '78 because he was bed-ridden.

All day long express wagons and drays rolled up at the White House doors with presents and more presents of silver for the president. Some of these the president himself opened, not the big packages, but the little odd ones. Early in the day he appeared before Mrs. Taft and Aunt Della with the queerest and daintiest old satin slipper in his huge hand. It was the slipper worn by his great-grandmother Forbush at her wedding in Colonial Mass. It had been sent as the tribute of Harriet Waters Forbush, herself a great-granddaughter of Grandmother Forbush.

The official festivities of the day began with the call at the White House of forty members of the Cincinnati Commercial club, who arrived in Washington on a special train. Many of these men were among the oldest of the president's Cincinnati friends. They secured the president's company for luncheon and for the better part of the afternoon.

At Chevy Chase Country club they presented their fellow townsman with a rose silver bowl and President Greene of the club, made a speech of congratulation to the president.

As President Greene had attempted in his little talk to draw the president from the world of office and present him to his townsmen as William Howard Taft of Cincinnati, so the president's address in reply was reminiscent of his former days in that city.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES WILL CONTINUE ON EDUCATIONAL TOUR

The plans of the high school graduates include in very many cases the determination to continue their education. S. B. Crouse, Ray Cotton and Corwin Gates will attend the Normal for one year and then will go to the Michigan Agricultural College, where they will take the course in forestry. Charles Lamb and George Moorman expect to attend the University of Michigan next year.

Marie Ryan will study vocal music at the Conservatory and Ruth Scovill will study the piano and organ at the Conservatory. Gertrude Sherzer will take up the kindergarten course at the Normal and Caroline Hubbard, domestic science. Florence Gorton and Mildred Pahl and Helen Showerman will also go to the Normal.

Commencing Wednesday our store will be open each evening during the remainder of the week, H. D. Wells.

MARRIED 25 YEARS.

Silver Wedding Anniversary of the Nation's Chief and His Wife.

Flower Girls Will Afford Parade Feature

One of the strikingly pretty features of the parade planned for Thursday afternoon is the flower girls, who are to carry two baskets. The flower girls are easy to find, but the flowers themselves are more of a problem. Will not therefore any one who has even a small quantity of flowers contribute them to this purpose? Whether you have few or many, kindly take them to the home of Mrs. Seth Mereness, 601 Pearl street. If you have no way of sending the flowers there, they will be called for if you will phone Mrs. Mereness, whose number is 269-J.

BAND CONCERT TO WELCOME STREETER MONDAY EVENING

The Ypsilanti band gave a concert in front of the Opera House Monday evening at 7 o'clock to welcome the M. B. Streeter Stock Company who have opened a week's engagement in this city.

Mr. Streeter made a large circle of friends in Ypsilanti when he was here several years ago who will be glad to welcome him back again.

CAMPBELL FUNERAL HELD AT FAMILY HOME MONDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Fisher Campbell, wife of Hon. Andrew Campbell, was held Monday afternoon from the family home. Rev. Bastien Smith of Jackson and Dr. A. G. Beach, pastor of the Congregational church of this city, conducted the funeral services, and the burial was in Highland, Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Campbell was born April 3, 1837, in Sodus, New York. While but a child of 12, her mother died and four years later she came to make her home with her aunt, Mrs. Jacob Bacon in Superior. She attended the Normal College but did not finish her course, as at this institution she met Andrew Campbell, whose wife she became on October 26, 1859. The first two years of their married life they lived in Augusta township, and then they moved to the home in Pittsfield township where they have lived for 50 years.

Seven children were born to them and of these one died in infancy and Mary passed away in 1882 at the age of 20 years. The five children who survive their beloved mother are all at the family home save Robert, the eldest, who is in Indianapolis but will arrive in a day or so. The other children are Mrs. Anna C. Covell of Fitchburg, Massachusetts; Daniel of Fort Scott, Kansas; Katherine, who teaches in South Bend, Indiana, and James Andrew who teaches in the University of Kansas at Lawrence, Kansas.

Mrs. Campbell died of heart trouble, after an illness of three years. A circumstance which took place three years ago eloquently illustrated the measure of love Mrs. Campbell had shown and the full measure which had come back to her. On that her 70th birthday she was remembered with a shower of letters. They came from all over the country and the love and veneration which filled them showed her the deep appreciation in which her friendship was held. Her influence in the neighborhood and the community was a very sweet and uplifting one. Although her life had been outwardly quiet, seemingly, and had been filled with work and endeavor, she always maintained the high ideals of her early womanhood. Her home was one of marked hospitality, where she welcomed the friends which her children made after they left the home for college. Through their school and college courses the mother followed with her sympathy and interest and she welcomed the friends which her everything which engaged their thoughts. Mrs. Campbell has been resident of the Pittsfield Ladies' Aid society and here, as in her own home, she was deeply revered and beloved.

CONSERVATORY COMMENCEMENT HELD MONDAY

The commencement exercises of the Normal Conservatory, occurred Monday morning at ten o'clock in Normal Hall and consisted of an admirable program given by the Senior Singing club and Mrs. Annis D. Gray, contralto, and Minor E. White, of the Normal Conservatory faculty. Many of the student graduating in the public school music and drawing departments of the Senior Singing club. The graduates of the piano course are Mabel M. Barbour and Lydia Lucretia Case; of the singing course, William Frederick Reyer. Seven finished the public school music course and nine the public school music and drawing course.

The Senior Singing club presented three charming numbers, "The Lass with the delicate air," "The Fairies' Slumber Song" and "Voices of the Woods" as the opening number on the program and for the concluding number, the cantata, "Saint Mary Magdalene," by Indy, the solo parts of which were exquisitely sung by Mrs. Gray. They also gave the Swedish Peasants' wedding march by Sodermann and Dr. Vogt's Indian Lullaby. It is regrettable that this singing club cannot continue next year with the same personnel, so exceedingly good has been their work.

Mr. White repeated the number which so captivated the audience on a recent program, Stojowski's Prelude in E flat minor, Chopin's Nocturne in G, and Rubinstein's Staccato Etude in C.

President Jones presented the diplomas.

MAKE YOUR LOYALTY APPARENT BY THE FLAGS AND BUNTING ON THE HOME

Never before in the history of the city has more time, money and skill been employed for the beautification of the various streets than is evidenced this week for the mammoth G. A. R. semi-centennial encampment to be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The city has appropriated a liberal share for this work and now it is considered by the committees in charge as well as by numerous residents, the duty of every person in Ypsilanti to complete the effort by seeing to it that his home is properly decked for the occasion.

Quantities of flags and bunting have been laid in by local merchants for this occasion and a most excellent opportunity for all residents to show their loyalty is afforded. By loyal, be patriotic, be a live citizen and show it by decorating.

All the decorations should be up by noon Wednesday at the latest, so work fast. Several stores and homes are already well decorated. The proprietor has set a good example. His restaurant presents a splendid appearance and many others better able to decorate are urged to follow his example.

TRAINING SCHOOL TEACHERS WITH EXCEPTION OF THREE TO REMAIN FOR SUMMER

Except in the cases of the first, second and seventh grades, the regular training school teachers will remain for the summer school. Miss Dessaltee Ryan, who has been supervisor of the primary grades in the schools of Battle Creek, will have charge of the first grade in the absence of Miss Margaret Wise. Miss Adella Jackson will take Miss Wise's place as lecturer on primary methods this summer, and her second grade will be taught by Miss Ita Page, an alumnus of the Normal College who has been critic of the county normal at Flint. In the absence of Miss Pearl Clark, Miss Katherine Cavanaugh of Dillon, Montana, will teach in the seventh grade.

The remonstrance against the construction of curbing on Washington street between Ellis and Emmet by the citizens and real estate owners was referred to committee on ways and means on motion of Ald. Huston. On motion of Ald. Stevens the sewer under construction on Upper Ellis was ordered extended 200 feet west objections to be heard July 3 at 7:30 p. m.

The city clerk reported verbally that if the Ypsilanti Hide and Leather Co. should attempt to maintain a nuisance on Forest avenue it could be abated.

The resolution in regard to appropriating $200 for the purpose of improving the track at Recreation Park was adopted.

A resolution by the Streets and Walks Committee that the gravel pit about 5 rods by 135 feet on Factory street be purchased from Ed. Warren by the city not to exceed $600, and that it be fenced and provided with suitable gates or gates with locks and that each ward be charged 10 cents per load for gravel used, was adopted.

Mayor Towner appointed Ald. Stevens, Cornwell and Lewis as a committee of three to investigate the matter of treating the streets by the use of oil, to settle the dust and make good streets.

MEAT PACKERS HIT BY RULING

Judge Carpenter at Chicago Denies Rehearing.

DECISION IS UNUSUALLY SHORT

In Six Words the Jurist Decides That the Indictments Against J. Ogden Armour and the Other Packers Stand.

Chicago, June 20.—Judge Carpenter denied the motion of the packers for a rehearing of their motion to quash the indictments against them.

"The motion for rehearing is denied."

In six words the judge brushed aside the latest plea of J. Ogden Armour and the other indicted packers.

No written opinion had been prepared by Judge Carpenter and he gave no reason for his finding. Elwood Goodman, an assistant district attorney, who is one of the government's counsel in the case, was the only one of the array of counsel present when the brief decision was announced.

The six words were all Judge Carpenter said.

The decision took the attorneys by surprise. Half an hour after it was rendered James H. Wilkerson, who has charge of the prosecution, was sitting in his office in the federal building. He was asked what the next step would be in the prosecution of the defendants.

"Why," he said, "that will be determined by whatever Judge Carpenter decides."

"The case has been decided," he was told.

"What!" he exclaimed. "Well, that beats me!"

The packers based their right to the rehearing on the ground that the criminal provisions of the Sherman act were not definite enough to warrant the return of indictments or prosecution for an alleged violation of its prohibitions. They also argued that the restraint alleged was "reasonable," and referred to the United States supreme court decisions in the Standard Oil and tobacco cases.

FIND BONES ON MAINE

Havana, Cuba, June 20.—The first human parts to be recovered from the wreck of the American battleship Maine were discovered when workmen removing mud and debris from the spar deck, just forward of the after superstructure, discovered the blackened and coral incrust bones of a left fore arm and right foot.

On the starboard side of the after-deck there was found an ammunition box which was cleaned and opened with difficulty. Its contents included rifle cartridges in dips and knife bayonets. The bayonets showed most startlingly the action of salt water on steel blades and brass hilts. The electricity generated had reduced the steel to a shapeless mass.

NEIGHBOR'S CHERRY TREE PROVES TO BE BAD FOR YOUNG VISITOR

George Lamb, a young lad about 10 years old, met with a very painful accident Sunday evening while trying to secure some cherries from a neighbor's cherry tree. He had climbed into the higher branches when his foot caught and in getting it loose he put his knee cap out of joint. It was with difficulty that he was gotten down out of the tree after which a physician was summoned and the knee cap replaced. Although the injury is very painful it is hoped that it will not prove a permanent one.

BE STUDENTS STILL.

The time of graduation seems to be looked upon in two quite opposite directions by two different classes of students. One class looks ahead to it as a time when they will "get through school." The other regards it as "commencement" time.

We are always sorry to see the young man or the young woman take the former view. It seems as if they regard their social training as in a measure an unwelcome task, something that must be endured, because it cannot very gracefully be cured by side-stepping it altogether. The work is undertaken perhaps under protest, and continued under protest and is concluded with gladness. This class of students is the one that almost invariably succumbs to the temptation of hurrying to get a job, to earn some money, to be "independent," as they term it. The teacher or parents or friends who can dissuade this class of students from this ruinous course is making the best possible investment for that student's welfare.

The amount of energy expended and the amount of time and money expended on an education between the common school education, so called, and the college education is by far the best investment which is made anywhere along through the school course, because it is an investment which takes you out of the class of the ordinary and places you in the class of the extraordinary. The compensation which comes to the man who is just ordinarily equipped is likely to remain stationary during his best years and then to go backward; while the compensation of the man who has equipped himself for the extraordinary task will in all probability continue to increase during his best years, and he may easily find himself in command of the largest compensation of all at a time when the ordinary man is forced backward in the race.

We believe the boy or girl who gets his education in the educational atmosphere which prevails in Ypsilanti is fortunate, because he has about him ever a stimulus to go on and still on and to "be a student still."

It was a fine showing made in the graduating class of the Ypsilanti high school Friday night. The proportionate number who stuck to the task and went through the lower grades and through the high school is larger, we understand, than in most any other place on record. This reflects credit upon the students themselves, credit upon the whole educational system which makes for it, credit upon the unselfish endeavor of the faculty which has encouraged these students to keep moving upward. It means that the per capita influence for better things is larger here than in most places; and this means that this is a good atmosphere in which to raise a family and in which to sojourn while the family is being reared.

When Ypsilanti civilly and municipally walks up on to the plateau which her schools have occupied for so many years! Ypsilanti will be in a class by herself. If the citizens of Ypsilanti will give themselves unselfishly to the task of bringing up the municipal administration of the city to the ideas which ought to prevail here, they will be doing a great work, a work which will declare dividends now and hereafter. And the cost will be less than the present cost, in everything except disinterested concern for the city's welfare by the average citizen.

We cannot refrain from commending to all its graduates of all our schools in which we all have a community interest, that they "be students still;" that they give themselves to some recreative study during the vacation time. There are interesting questions of civics, and physics and zoology and geology and domestic science and agriculture which can be carried on with object lessons all about us right here at home. There are short courses in agriculture which could be taken from the Agricultural College during the summer vacation. There is the Summer Normal, which is worth the effort of attendance with note book by every graduate.

As the High School valedictorian well said, it is a question of either "rub or rust." We are bound to rust if we do not rub, and we are bound to rub if we do not rust. The question to decide now is, What shall we rub? We of course might rub the chute in the out-door gymnasium in Recreation park throughout the summer vacation. This would brighten the chute rather more than us. Some of this is good, but we should rub something else worth while.

ORGANIZE THE NORMAL ALUMNI.

Commendable efforts have been made in the past to organize the Normal College alumni. But with the means at hand, it has not been done with any sufficient degree of thoroughness. The surface has been merely scratched. There seems not to have been adopted any comprehensive follow-up system, a system which contemplates the finding of a lead and the following of it up until it overtakes the alumnus, if living, or his grave and locates it, if dead.

Such thorough organization as this is what is building in behind the University of Michigan a support it so sorely needs and is now receiving. Over 78 associations have been organized outside of the state and over 30 in the state, during the past year. The alumni of the U. of M. put the "Michigan Alumnus" on a sound financial basis by a fund furnished by the alumni and divided into five annual installments. And it seems to it that this reaches every known alumnus. The campus is thus never lost, either in the retrospective, the perspective or the prospective.

The Normal needs just such cooperation. It would seem that, if at each commencement and midwinter meeting, all alumni present would furnish on suitable blanks the name, address and occupation of every alumnus they know, this would help to connect up all the friends of the Normal—then follow up with a periodical which will keep them in touch with the place where they received their start.

NOT IN THE TACTICS.

General Hardee's Encounter With a Witty Straggler.

While on a forced march in some of the army movements in Mississippi General Hardee came upon a straggler. The general ordered him forward, when the soldier replied that he was weak and broken down, not even having had half rations for several days.

"That's hard," said General Hardee, "but you'll have to catch up with your regiment just the same or the provost sergeant will take you in hand."

The soldier looked up at the general and said:

"Ain't you General Hardee?"

"Yes," answered the general.

"Didn't you write Hardee's tactics?"

"Yes."

"Well, general, I've studied them tactics and know 'em by heart. You've got an order that to double column at half distance, ain't you?"

"Well," asked the general, "what has that to do with your case?"

"I'm a good soldier, general, and obey all that it is possible to obey, but if you'll show me an order in your tactics or anybody else's tactics to double distance on half rations I'll give in."

The general, with a hearty laugh, admitted that there were no tactics to meet the situation and, putting spurs to his horse, rode forward.

Indians in Civil War.

Many Indians fought in the civil war on each side. As a rule, they were brave soldiers. Colonel Parker, who copied in ink the penciled draft of the terms of surrender at Appomattox, was an Indian. The Federal muster roll shows some interesting Indian names. The following are typical:

Captain Tul-se-fix-se-ko, killed Feb. 1, 1863.

Captain Ah-ha-la-tus-ta-nuk-ke, died at Camp Moonlight, Ark., March 23, 1863.

Captain Tama-tus-ta-nuk-ka, cashiered Dec. 3, 1864.

Captain Ak-ti-yah-gi-ya-ho-la, deserted Dec. 27, 1862.

Captain Spring Frog, mustered out May 31, 1865.

Captain Eli Tadpole, died of disease April 15, 1863.

Lieutenant Andrew Rabbit, resigned July 12, 1863.

Captain Jim Ned, missing since Aug. 31, 1862.

Captain Dirt Throw Tiger, resigned Aug. 1, 1863.

Captain Daniel Grasshopper, died Oct. 3, 1862, of wounds received in action.

Lieutenant Redbird Sixkiller, mustered out May 31, 1865.

Commencing Wednesday our store will be open each evening during the remainder of the week, H. D. Wells.

DECORATION DAY

By EUGENE F. WARE
[Ironquill]

[The author of this unique poem is a Kansas lawyer, formerly commissioner of pensions, and served through the civil war, being mustered out as captain of an Iowa cavalry troop. Mr. Ware has written many patriotic poems.]

It is needless I should tell you
Of the history of Sumter,
How the chorus of the cannon
Shook its walls,
How the scattered navies gathered,
How the iron ranked battalions
Rose responsive to the country's urgent calls.

It is needless that I tell you
For the time is still too recent,
How was heard the first vindictive cannon's peal,
How two brothers stopped debating
On a sad, unsettled question
And referred it to the arbitrating steel.

It is needless that I tell you
Of the somber days that followed—
Stormy days that in such slow succession ran—
Of Antietam, Chickamauga,
Gettysburg and Murrensboro
Or the rocky, cannon shaken Rapidan.

It was not a war of conquest,
It was fought to save the Union;
It was waged for an idea of the right,
And the graves so widely scattered
Show how fruitless the question
In peace or war may be in moral might.

Brief indeed the war had lasted
Had it raged in hope of plunder,
Briefly still had glory been its only aim,
But its long and sad duration
And the graves it has bequeathed us
Other motives, other principles, proclaim.

Need I mention this idea,
The invincible idea,
That seemed to hold and save the nation's life;
That resistless and unblenching,
Undisheartened by disaster,
Seemed the soul and inspiration of the strife?

This idea was of freedom—
Was that men should all stand equal,
That the world was interested in the fight;
That the present and the future.

With a wish for higher aims and grander scopes.

It is better for the people
That they reach for an ideal,
That they give their future nations better lives,
Though the standard be unreal,
Though the hope meets no fulfillment,
Though the fact in empty dreams alone survives.

If the people rest contented
With the good they have accomplished,
Then they retrograde and slowly sink away.
Give a nation an ideal,
Some grand, noble, central project,
It, like adamant, refuses to decay.

'Tis the duty of the poet,
'Tis the duty of the statesman,
To inspire a nation's life with nobler aims,
And dishonor will o'ershadow
Him who dares not or who falsely
His immortal fruited mission misproclaims.

COMFORTING WORDS.

Many an Ypsilanti Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Ypsilanti readers.

John P. Burkheiser, 15 W. Congress St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "I had more or less trouble from my back and kidneys for some time and there was often a constant, dull ache across to stoop. That my kidneys were disordered and the cause of my trouble was shown by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. When I chanced to hear of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s drug store and upon using them as directed received great benefit. This remedy acted as a tonic to my kidneys and made me feel better in every way. There is no question about Doan's Kidney Pills living up to the claims made for them."

WOLGAST AND MORAN READY

Two Great Lightweights In Fine Shape For Battle July 4.

CHAMPION IS BIG FAVORITE.

Since His Victory Over Burns Title Holder's Stock Has Gone Up—Little Briton Is Dangerous Customer and May Upset Things.

By TOMMY CLARK.

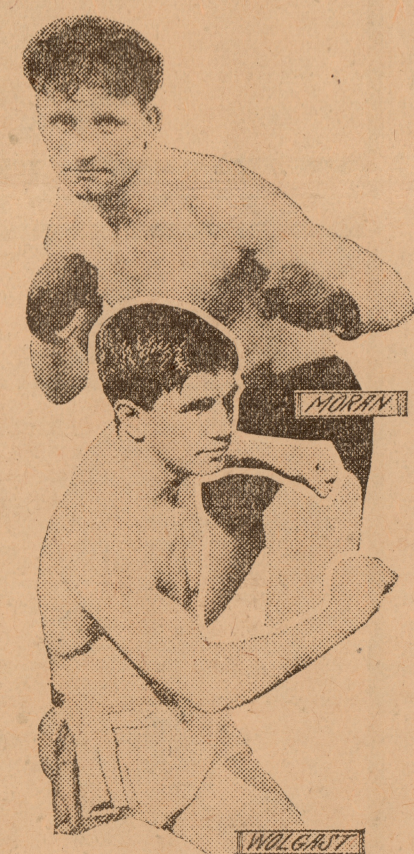

Ad Wolgast, champion lightweight of the world, and Owen Moran, the doughty little Briton, are in fine fettle for their twenty round mixup to be held in San Francisco July 4. Since he defeated Frankie Burns so decisively in sixteen rounds recently in Frisco the champion's stock has gone up, and now he will probably be an odds on favorite when he enters the ring with Moran. Those who think Wolgast should be a big favorite over Moran had better hold their bets for awhile, for on form the little Briton has a very good chance against the title holder.

As to weight and size they are very evenly matched, both being about the same height and can scale at about 123 nicely if called upon to do so. The chances are that they will go into the ring about 130 pounds each. Moran is a past master at boxing, and he knows the game as well as any of them.

As to hitting, there is little to choose between them, for boys who have met both of them say that Moran is the harder hitter of the two, although they admit Wolgast has the most dangerous swing. Moran depends more upon straight punches and a nasty short arm uppercut that is liable to make trouble for any opponent.

A great many have compared the two by Moran's showing with Packy McFarland, but it must be considered that when Moran met Packy he was in anything but good condition. That was his fault, of course, but nevertheless he was not in shape, as has been admitted by those who know since the contest, and for that reason it may be well to overlook his poor showing with the Chicago stockyards champion.

Then, too, McFarland might have done the same to Wolgast in a short bout—outpoint him completely—but it might be a very different case in a long fight with either one.

Wolgast has all the confidence in the world, and he is one German who will carry the fight to the other fellow. Ad loves to mix at all times, and the fans may rest assured that they will get a run for their money. Moran has a splendid chance to carry away a point decision, as the distance is only twenty rounds, a route he is just as able to travel as Wolgast, and, being clever and a good ring general, he will no doubt try to play for the decision, as it would mean much to him.

On the other hand, it will be a case of rushing for Wolgast, as he will not take any chance of losing a point decision if he can put over a sleep producer—all of which augurs well for a corking good battle on the glorious Fourth.

Why Russell Ford Is Effective.

Much has been written about the various mystery balls that Russell Ford pitches, but the real reason for his effectiveness lies in the fact that he puts the sphere over some part of the home plate as often as possible. In this way he has the batsmen constantly in the hole and gives them no chance to wait for free passes. History teaches that the greatest pitchers the game has ever known have been able to control the ball under the most trying circumstances.

Walker Leibgold Now Professional. Sam Leibgold, the veteran walker and many times champion, has honorably resigned from the amateur ranks. He has accepted a position as director of track athletics at De Witt Clinton park, in New York, which, of course, makes him a professional.

WHO IS YOUNGEST BALL PLAYER THAT EVER MADE GOOD?

"Who was the youngest ball player that ever made good?" asked Wilbur Roach, the young infielder of the New York Americans, recently of his teammates. "I don't know," answered Chase. "Who is it that holds this youthful record?" "Why, Fielder Jones, of course," was the quick rejoinder. "You see, he was a Fielder when he was born."

Some of the players recovered and were able to leave the clubhouse in an hour.

WHY STARS ARE SCARCE.

Hal Chase Says There Are Not Enough Players For Sixteen Clubs.

It isn't often that Manager Hal Chase of the New York Americans can be started on a baseball talk, but when he does loosen up he shows himself to

ED WALSH, WHITE SOX STAR TWIRLER, is a diamond philosopher. Some one asked him the other day why it was that so few ball players stood out head and shoulders above the rest, reference being made to Cobb, Speaker, Collins, Mathewson, Devlin, Lajoie, Brown, Johnson, Evers and Walsh. In the old days there was not such a marked difference in players. "That's easy enough," replied Chase. "There are about enough star ball players to go around in one league, but there are not enough for two leagues. The country doesn't produce enough of them. In the old days only eight clubs had to be supplied. Now there are sixteen big league teams to be looked after."

SCORES YOUNG CATCHERS.

Pitcher Frank Smith Says Boston's Juvenile Backstops Are Jokes.

"Young catchers are great stuff," says Pitcher Frank Smith of the Cincinnati Reds and formerly of the Chicago and Boston American league teams.

"The more I see of them the more I wish that the laws permitted the hunting of them in season, same as partridges or snipe. In Boston they assigned a kid catcher to backstop me. Pretty soon there was a runner on first, and this boy signaled me for three successive pitch outs. I sent three wide ones, the runner never moving, and then settled myself to get them over when that kid signaled for a fourth pitch out. I walked over to him. 'Kid,' said I, 'you are signaling for a base on balls. Lost your nerve or lost your memory?' The boy had lost all track of the number of balls I had thrown to him."

Ten Good Umpires In Major Leagues.

A league president might hunt for 100 years without digging up five better umpires than Klem, Emslie, O'Day, Johnstone and Riggler of the National league or five better ones than Evans, Sheridan, Connolly, O'Loughlin and Dineen of the American league. These are the best men of each staff. The other ones are younger and less experienced, who in time may or may not grow to be as proficient as their associates. Several of the first class umpires of today were mediocre when they started out. An umpire can improve like a player.

Do Your Cooking in the Cool

A hot kitchen is little better than a prison in summer. But the range is there, so all the cooking and the washing must be done there, too.

What a relief it would be to move the range where you pleased—Cook your dinner on the porch, if you like. It is the only range that is really portable—that works equally well in any place. There are no connections to be made, as in a gas range; no wiring, as with an electric stove; no sooty flues and ash-filled grates, as with coal or wood.

The long, enameled chimneys carry the heat directly up to saucepans, oven or boiler; you get full value from your fuel, without waste.

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Flues firmly finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

REFUSES ALL COMMUNICATION

Says He Is Not Afraid to Die and Refuses the Attendance of a Doctor. Why He Withdrew From the World. Eighty-eight Years Old.

The "hermit of Broadway" is dying—a little, old, wrinkled, grizzled Spanish gentleman named Manuel Martinez, who for thirty years has lived in the Broadway Central hotel, New York, cloaking himself in a self-created solitude most odd and astonishing, considering that he has passed all those years in a neighborhood teeming with human activity. In the course of every day more than 500,000 persons—afloat, in the cars, in taxicabs—pass the old man's abode.

But if Mr. Martinez had chosen instead a cave in a lonely mountain he could not have achieved a more complete isolation than that in which he has lived for thirty years. For months running he would not quit his room. He has been known not to descend to the hotel office once in a year.

Seldom Left His Room.

It was not that he fell into mental inertia, not that he permitted himself to degenerate into slothful habits. His room is a miniature library. He slept little, read and studied incessantly. Although secluded in his room, he has never abandoned a certain fastidiousness of dress characteristic of Spanish gentlemen. His linen has been fine and soft, and the other appointments of his attire and toilet have been in keeping.

He chose his apartment deliberately with the idea of shutting himself off from the world. It is high up in the hotel and far in the rear. He never sees the great crowded thoroughfare without; the clang of the trolley cars does not pass his threshold.

In all the thirty years he has lived there the only guest he ever has entertained within his retreat is his nephew, a civil engineer.

Clad in dressing gown and reclining in a big easy chair, the hermit of Broadway, now eighty-eight years old, told why he had chosen so queerly to live alone in the very heart of a great, noisy, crowded section of a big city. In the main his explanation was that an antipathy toward religion, which appears to have developed into an obsession, drove him out of association with his fellow man.

His Story.

"Before I drew away from the world I had traveled much. As a minor—a little fellow of sixteen—left my home in Granada and began my travels. I was but a little boy, but already I knew the writings of Voltaire, Rousseau, Plato, Aristotle. And I would see the world.

"I went to Austria, to Germany, France, Russia, England and—to Rome. And everywhere I found the people blindly ruled and oppressed by religion. I visited the Holy Land of the New and the Old Testament. I grew no more friendly toward religion. I became an atheist, and I tried to escape from religious atmosphere in America—in Mexico, Canada, Cuba. It was the same. I became disgusted with the childishness of the faith and beliefs and superstitions I found in men.

"I came to New York thirty-five years ago, assuming a banking business left by a brother. But after five years, my disgust against religion having increased rather than waned, I decided that I would withdraw as nearly as possible from all contact with men. I filled my room with the precious books of truth and philosophy and have had them only for my companions, augmenting my library from time to time as I learned of new works through the literary reviews.

Would Not Learn English.

"I have resisted learning English the better to keep my solitude. Of course I have maintained my courtesy toward those whom it was absolutely necessary for me to meet from time to time. But, save for the attendants who come silently daily to my room, I have passed months at a time in the solitude of my chamber. And I am not imbibed. I have been content."

Martinez has absolutely refused to be attended by a physician.

"It would be useless," he said. "I am about to die. I am very old. I am worn out. It is natural that now I should be dying. I am not afraid."

SHOES FOLLOW STORK.

Worn by 250 Babies, They Are Now Sent to Kentucky Family.

Following the stork for more than 20,000 miles, a pair of baby shoes, made of calfskin in 1783, arrived in Lexington, Ky., from Missouri. They were consigned to Colonel C. E. Merrill, a Confederate veteran.

In the same mail arrived a letter from the Merrill family in Missouri. The missive stated that the shoes had been worn by more than 250 infants in all parts of the United States, and as Colonel Merrill is the head of a large family it was the desire of the sender that the purpose of the shoes be continued until the Merrill family becomes extinct or until the shoes are worn out.

NOVEL SOUVENIR PROGRAMS PREPARED FOR G. A. R. GUESTS

Don't forget the red, white and blue Souvenir Programs—the only Official Souvenir issued. These are the best and most artistically gotten up booklets issued for any convention anywhere. These booklets contain a full and complete program of the doings of the encampment, are embellished with beautiful cuts of the city and river, with descriptions of places and history of Ypsilanti—a book that will grace thousands of homes throughout the state and will be prized long after this encampment has passed into history.

These programs contain cuts, descriptions and history of the famous Michigan State Normal College, the foremost institution of its kind in the country.

Cleary Business College holds an enviable position among institutions of this character, enrolling as they do students from all over the country and there is no phase of business life and practice that these students do not receive thorough instruction in. President Cleary will be glad to hear from any one interested, and those so interested will be taken through this wonderful business college. These programs are on sale everywhere at 10 cents per copy.

THE ILLUSTRATED BOOKLETS.

The committee, among other things too numerous to think of, let alone mention, prepared and have published an illustrated booklet to give to visitors instead of the usual souvenir badges.

This booklet is a work of art in design and finish.

We have made an effort by distribution to place a copy of this literary gem in every home and business house in this city. It contains the official program, the history of Ypsilanti, a Normal College write up, a bird's eye view of Cleary College, illustrated throughout with views of the Educational City.

If any home or business place has not had a copy of this booklet call up Paul Rankin, chairman of booklet distribution committee, and tell him so.

H. H. HUTCHINS.

CLEARY COLLEGE CAMP FIRE.

If the crowd seem to want it there will be an extra camp fire pulled off at the Cleary College Hall Wednesday evening. Watch the music. Follow the band.

The largest flag in Michigan will be on exhibition in Cleary Hall Wednesday evening.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

At 10 o'clock there will be a baseball game between the Milan city team and the Ypsilanti city team. These teams are two of the fastest semi-professional teams in the state and a good game is promised. The Milan band will furnish music and have come with a large repertoire of pieces. The band and two teams will start at the D. J. & C. waiting room and march to the Normal athletic field. Admission is free and every one is cordially invited to attend. These games were arranged especially for the visitors and citizens and the committee earnestly hopes that large numbers of loyal citizens will turn out and "root for the home team."

Chairman.

Fifty Years Ago---Wartime Photos of Grant

THESE three pictures, each showing a different view of General Ulysses S. Grant in uniform, are highly valuable pictorial records. They show the commanding general of the northern armies as he looked when in the midst of his herculean activities in the field. In each photograph, particularly the one in the center, the firm set lips almost speak the determination. "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

EXCELLENT MUSICAL PROGRAM IS ARRANGED

SPLENDID CONCERT AT NORMAL HALL WEDNESDAY EVENING

The classic concert on the program to be given at the Normal Hall under the direction of Prof. Alexander Wednesday evening will consist of musical talent seldom heard here, the singer whom we have engaged has a voice of remarkable purity, wide in range and wonderfully clear and flexible in the open register and his singing is quite free from the defects which often mar voices of his timbre. One of the pleasing characteristics of his singing is his delightful purity of enunciation. His work displays sterling musicianship, seriousness of purpose and an unusual degree of artistic finish.

Colored Quartet At The Camp Fires

We have also engaged the services of one of the best colored quartets, to be used at different camp fires and other places, each of these men are possessed with musical talent seldom heard on an occasion of this kind. They are known far and wide as the Magnolian Quartet and some of you no doubt have had the opportunity of having heard them sing some of their songs and you are only waiting for the opportunity to hear them the second time. So come out—we have them with us now—and as they are to go abroad soon to be used as concert musicians in Europe this may be the last opportunity to hear them.

W. W. KEYLON,
Chm. Music. Com.

TO VETERANS

If any "hold up" by way of exorbitant prices for meals, lodging or any scale of prices beyond what has been advertised are put up to any veteran of the Civil War or if any service demands tips, please let it be known to the Commander of the Boy Scouts or to any member of the Executive Committee who will take measures to have any such party put out of business forthwith. For no resident Ypsilanti can be guilty of such a crime and strangers' privileges will be at once annulled if they abuse them.

WHEN YOU SEE THE BAND START OUT FALL IN—THERE'LL BE SOMETHING DOING

The Ann Arbor band will march from the business district to the Presbyterian church for the W. R. C. meeting Wednesday morning. After playing a few selections the band will go to the Masonic Temple where the Council of Administration will meet at 10 o'clock.

At 10 o'clock the Milan band will arrive and will escort the Milan and Ypsilanti base ball teams to the Normal campus where a good game is anticipated.

Wednesday afternoon the Ann Arbor band will give an open air concert from 3 to 4:30 o'clock at the reviewing stand corner Adams and Congress streets, opposite the opera house. The Milan band will play earlier in the afternoon at Gilbert park, 1:30 to 3.

A feature of the musical program will be the concert by the army drum corps of G. A. R. veterans and it will be given visiting guests who desire. A double open air concert will be played in the evening from 7 to 8 o'clock. The Ann Arbor band will play at Gilbert park and the Milan band at Recreation park.

A classic concert under direction of Prof. Frederick Alexander of Normal Conservatory will be held in the Auditorium of the Normal College at 8 o'clock. Those wearing official badges admitted free. Tickets of admission hand of welcome, the cheery voice, the sire them as they register in the Temple.

THE VETERAN FIFE AND DRUM CORPS

This is an organization consisting of 50 war veterans producing the old war-time music from their fifes and drums just as in the days of '61 to '65. This is another feature seldom seen in this part of the country and is also worth your while to have the opportunity of seeing 50 boys that wore the blue at the time when their music soothed the souls of the daring and suffering comrades on the field of battle, just hear them just as they appeared at that time. We have expended several hundred dollars to have these opportunities presented to you. Now it is up to you to COME.

26TH INFANTRY.

This is the U. S. Gov. band located at Fort Wayne, Detroit, and conceded to be the best military band in the state consists of 40 selected musicians taken from the different U. S. posts and is used exclusively to furnish music for government purposes. This band alone is worth going miles to hear, as well as to see on parade and as the government seldom allows them to leave the posts this may be the only opportunity you will have to hear some of this exquisite music.

ANN ARBOR BAND.

This band of excellent musicians has been one of Ann Arbor's great boasts for several years, they are to be with us for the purpose of entertaining the great crowds in open air concert and other musical work. You will no doubt appreciate their high class musical entertainment either on the streets or indoors as your opportunity may occur.

THE MILAN BAND.

This is another well known musical organization and their music is also highly appreciative from the very fact that they have furnished band music for Southern Michigan celebrations, etc. for a number of years and from all the cities and towns where they have been engaged comes nothing but praise and satisfaction assuring us that this band will give us entire satisfaction during their stay with us.

THE AUGUSTA.

And last but not least is another band of able musicians consisting of 30 members owing to their having a large number of engagements to fill this summer and consisting largely of parade work they have just received fine new uniforms and uniforms and as we were fortunate in securing them as an open date just at the time they get the new equipment they will no doubt make a good appearance and will deliver the goods when it comes to band music.

BAGPIPERS.

We will also have with us an imported band of Highland Scottish Bagpipers and those who are lovers of bagpipe music will be highly pleased with the program these high-class bagpipe musicians carry with them. Don't fail to hear and see them in the big parade Thursday as they are an important band. This also is an opportunity seldom given you to hear music given by those musicians known as the pipers.

THE CAMP FIRE SOUVENIRS.

The Press has a letter from Col. M. C. Barney of Flint to the effect that he will bring with him card souvenirs containing that masterpiece of human eloquence—Lincoln's great address at Gettysburg—to distribute to the young people who are present at the Camp Fire at the M. E. church.

CAPT. J. H. WOODMAN.

At these headquarters you will also find the camp post office, as well as Captain Woodman who is chairman and has in charge the assignment of accommodations. The committee would suggest that you look him up immediately upon your arrival in the city and get located first of all. We wish to assure you of the hearty co-operation of all the citizens of the city and you may feel perfectly at liberty to address anyone, especially those with an "Ask Me" badge, you may meet on the street for any information you may desire, and we feel sure your request will be promptly answered and if need be any citizen will not only tell you what you want to know, but will see that you get it. Look for an "Ask Me" badge.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

The Bureau of Information has also been established with headquarters at the Masonic Temple and here you will find both night and day an attendant who will be glad to serve you in any capacity possible.

PLACES TO EAT.

Nearly every church in the city and nearly all of the organizations of secret societies have taken it upon themselves to assist in serving meals for you, and you will find courteous treatment and plenty to eat in any of these places, aside from the many restaurants, hotels, etc., that are prepared to serve you.

DRINKING WATER.

You will find throughout the city many places where the mains have been tapped and you can get an ample supply of drinking water. An effort will be made to keep these cups clean and in a sanitary condition and we trust you will have no hesitation about using them.

W. R. C.

Headquarters of the W. R. C. and the Ladies of the G. A. R. are also located at the Masonic Temple. Equal accommodations in every respect to that of the G. A. R. will be afforded the delegates and their friends.

BOY SCOUTS.

Headquarters of the Boy Scouts are located at the corner of Pearl and Washington streets. Here a hospital tent has been provided and a physician will be in constant attendance. In case of an accident call these headquarters at once by either phone. An automobile will also be here constantly for use in this connection and all citizens are urged to bear this important feature in mind and to notify these headquarters immediately in any case of emergency.

Several patrols of Scout will be on the streets among the crowds at all times. Any information wanted will be cheerfully furnished and delegates and visitors are requested to make use of them if they have occasion to do so.

Finally we wish to say that the CITY BELONGS TO YOU. We want you to feel at home and we want you to know we are all more than interested in your welfare and pleasure. We deem it a great honor to have you visit our city and if you do not make use of the privileges afforded, we shall be disappointed.

Every effort is being made to provide for your comfort and pleasure.

Yours truly,

CO-OPERATION IMPERATIVE-- MAKE VETERANS WELCOME

We have as visitors this week the Grand Army of the Republic, the Women's Relief Corp and the Ladies of the G. A. R.

Co-operate in every particular with the headquarters at the Masonic Temple.

If you have agreed to care for a certain number of people and your house is full, notify headquarters at once.

If you are not filled up and can care for any more, notify headquarters at once.

If you desire to meet friends or know where they are, inquire at headquarters.

In fact do all your business through headquarters and if this system is followed, no trouble will happen, if not everything will be in a mix-up.

IMPORTANT. Do all your business

The undersigned committee feel that it will not be out of place to once more urge upon the citizens of this city the importance of our combined efforts to please our honored guests. This is probably the last time it will ever be our privilege to entertain the Grand Army and their friends, and we request that every resident of Ypsilanti make themselves a committee of one to personally do their part towards the success of this great undertaking.

United we can accomplish everything and we believe in view of the fact that all of the residents, citizens, and in fact everyone in the city have up to date loyally supported the cause that this request is hardly necessary. We would only say finally that you do your best and receive the everlasting thanks of the committee in charge and let us show that our hospitality, generosity and loyalty knows no bounds.

Respectfully,
H. E. VAN DE WALKER,
G. C. HANDY,

PROCLAMATION

When Time began it was proclaimed, "Let there be Light." For the next four evenings, especially, it is very necessary that the business streets have more light. To make our streets attractive to our guests they should be one blaze of light.

If all our merchants and professional men light up their stores and offices to the full capacity it will help out.

There will be many strangers on our streets tonight. Will it not be well to leave as many lights as possible in front part of stores?

Shall not all our homes for the next few evenings be lighted to the fullest extent.

Decorations are ornamental and in order, but light is absolutely essential if we want to continue the good impressions we are making on our visitors.
